HANKOW IS IN FLAMES

British Warships at Hankow Send Wireless Dispatch of Brutality of Imperial Captors.

The edict grants an immediate constitution with a cabinet from which the hitherto excluded. A free pardon is granted to the rebels and to political offenders.

Hankow Burning. Shanghai, Oct. 30.—The British warships at Hankow sent a wireless dispatch to the effect that the Imperialists are burning the native city of Hankow and that the advance of the government forces is marked by hideous brutality.

At Hankow. Hankow, Oct. 30.—The loyalists are in undisputed possession of Hankow and are preparing to follow up the victory of last week by an attack on Wu Chang.

Admiral Sir Chen Ping yesterday notified the foreign consuls he is going to bombard the town and asked all foreigners to leave. A. H. Kopler, an American missionary, who was struck by a stray bullet in Friday's fighting, is in a serious condition.

In Friday's fight at Kilometer Ten although the rebels outnumbered two to one by the Imperialists in front and were subject to raking flank fire from the warships they held their ground until five hundred were killed and fifteen hundred wounded.

Slaughter Arabs. Tripoli, Oct. 30.—For three days the Italians have been slaughtering the Arabs outside the city. Many women have been killed. In the confusion attending the Italian bombardment at Benghazi Oct. 19, immense damage was done. Three hundred civilians, half of whom are women and children, were killed.

ADD CHINA. It is not known positively with what foreign governments the Manchurian rulers are negotiating, but discovery that it has been arranged with Baron Cotta for an eighteen million dollar loan indicates strongly suggests that it is from England and France that it hopes for the most.

Confirmation of the Imperialist recapture of Hankow is still lacking, and today the story is disbelieved here. General Yen Chen Chang, who was rumored killed, and subsequently to have effected the recapture of Hankow, is now reported to be ready for flight. Dr. Jackson and A. H. Kopler, the two Americans reported shot in the fighting there, are now said to have been seriously wounded.

An outbreak here is considered so threatening that foreign residents are seeking protection of their legations and all of them are under arms in readiness for whatever may develop.

OPEN MINE SAFETY DEMONSTRATION IN PITTSBURGH TODAY

Attended by Thousands of Mine Owners, Superintendents and Miners From All Over Country.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 30.—Several thousand mine owners, superintendents and miners from all parts of the country, principally, however, from the coal mining districts of the east and middle west, attended the opening here today of a great national mine safety demonstration, arranged under the joint auspices of the Bureau of Mines, the American Red Cross and the Pittsburgh Coal Operators' association. The demonstration, the first of its kind ever held in this country, will continue through tomorrow, and the presence of President Taft will lend additional interest to the otherwise less sensational program of the second day.

The two-days' demonstration which began today was arranged by the newly established Bureau of Mines for the purpose to demonstrate to those actively engaged in the mining industry the dangers of certain common practices in mine work and the full effect of long established theories as to the causes of mine explosions. It is hoped that by thus bringing the result of the studies and experiments of the experts of the Bureau before the very eyes of the mine owners, superintendents and miners, they will be taught a valuable lesson which will have a tendency to prevent many mine disasters and loss of life.

Shortly after its establishment the Bureau of Mines acquired some coal lands at Draceton, twelve miles from Pittsburgh, and there started an experimental mine for the purpose of testing various theories in regard to the causes of mine explosions. The most important part of today's demonstration took place at the Draceton mine, where in the presence of the assembled miners representing practically every mining state in the union, a mine explosion was enacted by the experts of the Bureau of Mines.

The Bureau of Mines has long been of the opinion that coal dust in a mine is a greater menace to the lives of the miners than gas and that by far the greatest majority of mine explosions are due to the ignition and explosion of coal dust by "blow-out" shots, that is blasts which do not send the rock or coal, but blow out the mine, which causes the coal dust to explode in the air of the mine to explode. The experts of the Bureau tested their theory by numerous experiments in the steel tube at the experimental station in this city and having become thoroughly convinced of the correctness of their theory, decided to convince the mine workers by an actual demonstration of the fallacy of their belief that coal dust would not explode.

The demonstration was made as realistic as it could be made under the circumstances. After the explosion foremen miners of the Bureau of Mines, equipped with various types of oxygen helmets and other "breathing apparatus," entered the mine to recover supposed victims and the pretended victims and rescuers included demonstrations with safety lamps showing the danger of breaking incandescent lamps in an atmosphere charged with coal gas or coal dust and the advantages of various new safety devices.

Tomorrow, at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh's baseball park, there will be another demonstration of a coal dust explosion, this time above ground, for the benefit of the general public. The rest of the program includes demonstrations of the equipment and work of the rescue cars, manned by expert rescuers, carefully trained in the use of the oxygen helmets and in the various devices for giving first aid to victims of mining accidents by gas or injured by falling rocks or broken timbers. President Taft will view this part of the interesting program. A grand parade of miners will conclude the demonstration. In view of the fact that during the last ten years thirty thousand miners were killed and seventy-five thousand injured in the mines of the United States the subject of preventing mine explosions is of national importance. The mine operators and intelligent workers fully appreciate the importance of the work of the Bureau of Mines and were willing to support the efforts of the bureau.

TAKT HAS FINISHED HIS WESTERN TRIP

PRESIDENT TURNS HIS FACE EASTWARD AFTER VISITING TWENTY-TWO WESTERN STATES.

No Hostility Was Shown But Number of Strikes Exhibited Something of "Show Me" Attitude.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 23.—Turning his face eastward at the end of 45 days of political "Joy Riding," President Taft today concluded his "winning of the West" trip.

"It has been a great trip," he declared today, "I have had an opportunity to get close to a great many of the people and they have turned out in great numbers to hear what I had to say. On the whole, I think the trip has been a great success."

Twenty-two states, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Massachusetts to California have had the President in the past forty-two days. It is estimated at least that seven million people have heard and saw the President on one hundred and ten scheduled stops, and nearly twice as many more rear platform stops.

Although the President has made some three hundred speeches, all of them have been confined to seven subjects. He started on the trip with five big speeches—peace, his explanation of his tariff votes, appreciation of the tariff board, his attitude toward trusts, the supreme court, Standard Oil, and the Tobacco Trust decision.

To those he later added speeches on conservation and the necessity for improvement in agriculture. These seven have constituted every speech he has made on the trip.

Politically, the result of the President's trip remains to be written in the electoral college in 1912. No open hostility has been shown on the trip, but in Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California, South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, an undercurrent of the "show me" attitude was apparent.

From now on, the President will be in the East: Pittsburgh tomorrow, Morgantown, W. Va., the next day; New York for the big naval review on Nov. second; a few days at Hot Springs, Va., for a rest, and then the President will campaign in Kentucky, Tennessee, after spending election day at home in Cincinnati.

It will be November 12 before the President reaches the White House again, and then he will have been on the road fifty-seven days. He will then have but two weeks to prepare for the opening of the two long sessions of Congress.

From every standpoint of church organization and activities development has been along most stable and permanent lines. Much credit is also due to Mrs. McIntyre who has been as devoted as her husband in every way to the Sunday school and the other church societies. Was Successful Session.
The session of the convention which closed yesterday was most successful in every way and were well attended by the delegates and ministers and by the members of the local congregation. This is the second state conference of the church which has been held here, the former one being held in 1908.

Twenty-six ministers, nine lay delegates and fifteen outside visitors were present during the week for the session of the convention. The work of supplying the pulpits of the denomination was most thoroughly accomplished by the ladies of the local congregation who served dinners and suppers in the parlors of the church and who were hostesses in their homes. Nothing was lacking for the comfort and welcome of the visitors.
Lima Ridge was chosen as the place of meeting of the United Brethren church for the next year.

Hog raisers throughout this part of the county are watching with considerable interest the results of the demonstration of the prevention of hog cholera by vaccination as conducted by Drs. F. B. Hixley and H. A. Beach of the University of Wisconsin at the Northwestern stock yards Saturday. Four healthy hogs were given injections of blood taken from a choleric hog and then two of them were vaccinated. These animals will be left at the stock yards for the next three weeks, or so, by which time the ones which were not vaccinated are expected to be in the last stages of the disease and the others should show no effects of it.

In view of the fact that no cholera germ has yet been isolated it is difficult to fight and once the hog is taken with the disease there is no way, as yet, to cure. But it has been found that certain hogs are immune from the germ and do not take sick even when they are directly exposed to it. There seems to be a substance in their blood which counteracts the power of the cholera germs and experiments have shown that this ability to counteract the effects of the germ is greatly strengthened by injecting into the blood of the sick hog that of the immune animal.

Further experiment has brought out the important fact that if any other hog is vaccinated with the blood of the one which has been strengthened by that of a sick hog it would be immune also from the cholera germ. It is this fact that the doctors are demonstrating and if the two hogs which were not vaccinated are not immune they will probably be in the last stages of cholera within three weeks, as the germ acts very much quicker when injected into the blood, while the other two will be in perfect health and show no signs of the disease.

Before starting the demonstration Dr. Hixley gave a lecture on the symptoms and the order in which they would appear and described the method of determining whether it was cholera or some other illness. Then he gave a list of very important directions for the prevention of cholera and methods of safeguarding animals which might be exposed to the cholera germ.

During the demonstration a hog was brought in from the country which was in the last stages of the disease and the signs of cholera were shown by the doctors.
The demonstrations have only been given at only one other place in the state, so far, Belleville being in a section where a great many hogs were being lost. Southern Wisconsin is the worst place for this disease, the lower tiers having more of it than any where else.

And so it is with a great deal of interest that the hog breeders are watching the results of this experiment and though the demand for vaccine would be far greater than the present market, should it become universal it is thought that a larger supply will be accessible before long.

QUESTION OF FIRE POLICE UP TONIGHT

Will Probably Come Before Common Council At Its Regular Meeting This Evening.

The question of an appropriation for the fire police, and the settlement of differences between the city and that body will probably come before the common council for action at its meeting this evening. At the last meeting Mayor Nichols recommended that the fire and water committee attempt some kind of an agreement. A report is also current that a demand will be made for an additional night policeman to be on duty after midnight.

Suffering Humanity:

A great pleasure is afforded me to be able to testify to the merits of Chiropractic Adjustments. I am satisfied that Chiropractors removed the cause of my disease. Up to the time I called on the local Chiropractor, J. N. Inlay of Puddicombe & Inlay, I had suffered the tortures of sick headache for four years, having an attack practically every day. ## TROUBLE WITH HEALTH, TONA VITA BIST THING

Pittsburg Man Discovers In It A Splendid Health Agency.

Among many statements recently made by prominent Pittsburgers in connection with "Tona Vita," the remarkable new tonic which is now being sold for the first time in Janesville by the Smith Drug Co., is the following by Assistant City Controller James Brown.

"For the past few years I have had trouble with my health," said Mr. Brown. "I was not seriously ill, continued he, "but did not feel well most of the time. My appetite was poor and I would have a dull pain in the back and limbs and would have to sit down. I was also quite run down."
"Eight days ago I started taking this tonic 'Tona Vita.' It has proved the best thing I ever used. I eat and sleep much better and am never nervous or depressed and feel better and stronger in every way. I think this is a fine preparation and am perfectly willing to say so on the strength of what it has done for me. I am controller of Allegheny, Pa., for thirty-six years. Many of my friends know what the medicine has done for me."

No name in the state of Pennsylvania stands higher for honesty and integrity than that of James Brown. He has been true to every trust reposed in him and is considered a man of sound judgment. Mr. Brown was a victim of nervous debility, and "Tona Vita" means a positive relief from this complaint. Nervous debility is produced in thousands by the strain of modern methods of living. Chief among the symptoms are: Lack of energy, stomach trouble, nervousness, depression of spirits, little vitality, headaches, dull pain in the back, poor circulation, cold feet, dizzy spells and unsound sleep.

Leo's Rhubarb Laxative, the attendantly remedy, is indispensable, as it overcomes chronic constipation. It is a good laxative for children.

BEGIN WORK ON NEW DRINKING FOUNTAIN

One of Original and Useful Design Will be Erected at Intersection of Milwaukee and Milton Avenues.

Work was started Saturday on the new drinking fountain at the intersection of Milwaukee and Milton avenues which is to replace the old fountain which has given service for so many years. The new fountain, designed by City Engineer C. V. Kerch, is one which should win the plaudits of the humane society, for it provides for the quenching of thirst of man, horse, dog and cat; not an animal that walks the streets was left out of consideration.

The east front of the new fountain, being placed on a concrete base, which will raise it sufficiently high so that horses can drink without being unchained. On the curb side of the fountain will be placed a continuous flow of water. The water draining from the horse bowl and bubble fountain will flow into another bowl lower down and from there to a basin for dogs, placed at a level with the curb. From this place the water will run into the sewer and connections for that purpose are now being made. Hereafter the overflow water has drained into an old well.

Below the fountain will be a man-hole which will give access to the pipes. An ornamental concrete globe, which will cap the opening over the supply pipe, has been donated by the Janesville Sand and Gravel company. Concrete seats will be left on each side of the building fountain.

THEFT OF BICYCLES IS WORK OF MADMAN

Chief of Police Appleby Sees No Other Way to Account For Them Except Pure Deviltry.

That the numerous thefts of bicycles made in this city within the last two weeks are the work of a man with a mania or were done for pure deviltry, is the opinion of Chief of Police George Appleby. As long as he has been in office he has never faced a problem quite so puzzling. Out of the also or ten wheels stolen, seven have been recovered. One was found on North Main street, another in some bushes on Franklin street, and a third was found nearly covered up with brush near the Jackson street bridge. Of the remaining four recovered ones was found between two box cars at the round house, one back of the post-office, one on the railway track, and one across from the St. Charles Hotel. Wheels are usually stolen for purposes of sale and profit, but in these cases they seem to have been taken out of pure "cussedness" or it may be that there is in the city someone with a peculiar mania for stealing and hiding bicycles.

Chief Appleby advises wheel owners to keep a close watch of their property and not leave them unguarded. He suggests the use of a lock and chain which will prevent any unauthorized person from riding them.

TODAY'S EVANSVILLE NEWS

EVANSVILLE

Evansville, Oct. 30.—A fine illustrated lecture on children was given last evening at the Congregational church. The speaker, the audience in a very interesting trip around the world, giving enlightenment as to how and where so many millions of children live, and also showing the difference between those children who have a chance to attend Christian schools and to be taught the Christian religion. The illustrations were excellent. Aside from those showing the different nationalities of children there were many pictures of the beautiful scenery in Africa, Asia, the Orient and other countries. A very pleasing anthem was rendered by the choir; also a solo was rendered by Mrs. Geo. W. D. Hubbard and daughter, Miss Anna Hubbard, and singing relatives and friends in choir.

The Ostentatious Millionaire.
The great wealth in question being an essentially new phenomenon, its American possessors have no inherited culture and no inherited positions to guide them in their personal expenditure of it. It tends to produce a class which is held together internally by nothing but envious extravagance in income and self-satisfying indulgence, and which asserts its supremacy in the eyes of the general public merely by making this income self-indulgent ostentatious.—W. H. Mallock, in North American Review.

Idleness is Incraving.
No idle life can produce a real man. A life of luxury calls out only the feminine, destructive qualities. The creative forces are developed only by stern endeavor to better one's condition in the world.—Success Magazine.

Time Wasted.
There is a heap of perfectly good time wasted, in worrying about a trouble that may come. Keep your mind clear from this clutter, and if difficulties arise, you will be better equipped to meet them.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The distribution of atmospheric pressure is weak and irregular, and the weather conditions corresponding unsettled. An area of low pressure over the Mississippi valley and southern Plains is accompanied by warm, rainy weather. In the east the pressure is high, and clear, frosty weather is prevailing there. The atmospheric pressure is also high over Canada, and falling temperature. Temperatures of the outflow of air from the North continue to cause low temperatures here. Tuesday will be threatening, but along the northern border, and probably without precipitation other than light snow flurries.

In prices of 27 per cent since the panic of 1907. These markets are still unsettled because the railroads, which in good times take 40 per cent of the output, are not taking more than 20 per cent, chiefly because of unsatisfactory financial conditions. The decline, which has brought prices down to the lowest on record since 1897, is rapidly bringing our most important industry into a healthy and more promising condition. Unfortunately, the adjustment has been long delayed, because of the stubborn refusal to lower prices during the reaction which followed the panic of 1907. The policy of the steel corporation, it will be remembered, then was to exercise its great power in stoutly resisting natural tendencies.

"Prices were held at the high level through sheer force, and much construction work was held up in consequence. Of late a wiser policy has prevailed and the steel industry is now meeting the market and adapting itself to changed conditions. No doubt when the financial situation improves and investment conditions become more favorable for the issue of securities—a time probably not very far distant—the railroads will enter the market as purchasers of materials; and the result will very likely be as on previous occasions, a rush of accumulated orders. Our copper producers would do well to profit by experience of the steel corporation and hasten business recovery by lowering prices to a point that would stimulate consumption."

THE GAZETTE CONTEST.

During the past ten years the Gazette has conducted a number of prize contests, to the satisfaction of all concerned. The one inaugurated today provides that, every contestant receives some reward for her work, and in this way becomes a prize winner.

The object of these contests is not philanthropy, but a business proposition pure and simple. The Gazette has thousands of dollars scattered over the county in small amounts due on subscription. The contest interests a class of agents that could not be hired for money, who act as collectors, and secure advance payments, at the same time making a thorough canvass for new subscribers.

There is nothing to conceal about the contest or why papers use them to promote circulation and make collections. The campaign just started by the Gazette is of unusual interest because of the grand prize which holds the list, and because of the fact that every contestant is remembered. The man who pays for a paper in advance suffers no hardship, and if the paper goes by mail, the government rule that it must be paid for in advance is not violated.

The prizes offered in this contest are every attractive and merit the best effort of every contestant. There will be no favorites in the race, so far as the management is concerned, and every worker will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are sure of a cash commission on all the money collected, if no other prize is secured.

The Cargill Memorial Methodist church has adopted as its financial plan a weekly apportionment, and hanging in each of the three vestibules are charts containing the names of the six hundred members, and opposite each name is the weekly apportionment, ranging in amounts from five cents to a dollar a week. The budget for the year is estimated at $1,500, exclusive of benevolences. Judging from the interest shown in the charts yesterday, it is safe to assume that they will stimulate church attendance. The plan has been a success in other places and will doubtless work out all right here. A free gospel is not always appreciated.

The committee which visited Day, report, Iowa, not long ago, report that all saloons in the river as well as the inland cities of the state, observe the law. No screens are permitted, no looting allowed, and the ten o'clock closing hour is rigidly enforced. That's the difference between public sentiment in Iowa, where laws are enforced, and Wisconsin, where a wide open town, seven days in the week, is demanded, as people coming from church yesterday discovered. No fault of the law, but lack of sentiment to demand enforcement.

J. M. Morgan and Andrew Carnegie, two of America's great financiers, are soon to appear before the Interstate Commerce Commission, for the purpose of discussing business interests in general, and the status of the United States Steel Corporation in particular, in which both men are largely interested. Mr. Morgan had much to do with promoting the steel corporation and in opening up the markets of the world for its products. He is a law-abiding citizen, and believes that he is not a violator. The conference should produce good results.

William Allen White of Kansas fame, is a progressive of pronounced type. He predicts that Wall Street is preparing to turn Taft down for renomination, and bring out a candidate that the street can control. In that event he believes that Senator La Follette will be a sure winner, as he anticipates united support from the west as well as from the south. A number of things are liable to happen before the conventions of next June, which may change the political complexion.

The street to the cemetery will be in an impassable condition, as soon as winter comes. The street railway company has laid its new tracks up to grade and is thubbing the right of way in good shape, but the street from the track to the curb is badly torn up, and likely to be in this condition all winter. Everybody who has occasion to use the street is asking why it is neglected, and an echo is the only answer. Yes, the city ought to buy the water works for a plaything!

The legal fight between the government and the United States Steel Corporation promises to be a battle royal, for the great corporation has in its employ the best legal talent in the country, and its board of directors is composed of the best business men that the nation produces. If the law has been violated or evaded, it has not been done in a spirit of defiance, and the company claims the ability to intelligently interpret the law.

Many people seem surprised to think that the president received a cordial greeting, and was royally entertained by the citizens of the Badger state. Why shouldn't he be? The question of whether everybody agrees with him or not does not change the fact that President Taft is the chief magistrate, an honored guest, and entitled to every courtesy. Aside from this the president is blessed with a charming personality, as well as an integrity of purpose, and he is attempting to live up to his convictions of right and justice.

Whatever may be said of business, there is no hall in the epidemic of crime which is sweeping over the country like a tidal wave. Murder is of such common occurrence that it is as much a matter of daily record as the stock market or the ball game, while minor crimes are so numerous that they fail to attract more than passing notice. It is about time to call a halt and discover "whither we are drifting."

THE MOMENT

A UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE.
(Copyrighted 1911, by C. N. Mather.)

Can shine resplendent in "the best society!"
And drink out of the soup tureen;
Can eat pie with his knife in all
A crook can make folks talk about his pety.
Forgetting all his erstwhile notoriety.
And that convention's utmost elasticity,
He makes the folks all call it eccentricity.
If he has got the old long green.

He tours the foreign countries with the greatest ease;
Though languages are different across the seas.
He talks with equal fluency with Cingalese
And Turks and Moors with air serene,
He speaks the language that they all can understand,

NINE FOR THE EDITOR.
A paper in a good sized town in Michigan recently published this item: "The business man of this town who is in the habit of hugging his typewriter had better quit or we will publish his name." The next day thirty-seven business men called at the office, paid up their subscriptions and left behind them thirty-seven columns of advertising and told the editor not to pay any attention to foolish stories.

THE JOYS OF VEGETARIANISM.
Grandfather was a centenarian, father is a Unitarian, and so we decided to get in line by being vegetarians. The reason for this was not so much to carry out the family precedent as to reduce this all too solid and numerous flesh. We wrote to a friend of ours who had lost 176 pounds by the vegetarian route, and asked for his prescription. He replied:

"It is easy to cut out meat. When you pass a restaurant and smell the savory bouquet of a broiling mutton steak, take a spoon out of your pocket and eat it. (The onion, not the pocket.) That will take away the also for meat or for anything else, and you can go by a dozen other restaurants with perfect impunity, for you can then smell nothing."

We bought a half-dozen nice Spanish onions and went and stood in front of a restaurant. A man on the inside received a double porterhouse steak and we ate an onion. The next man got him and eggs and we ate another onion. A third man got an order of young turkey and oyster dressing and we ate another onion. Then we went and stood in front of another restaurant. The first had grown too strong and so had the onions. For three weeks we gave the beef (and an awful name). The stockholders began to fear they were not going to get any dividends. While others dined upon the succulent roasted beef and cabbage, we dined on cabbage. We put a crimp in the vegetable market from carrots to string beans. We suffered and were strong, very strong indeed, for we still stick to the onions. The dinner invitations poured in from unexpected quarters. Folks who had never asked us out to dine before fell all over themselves and at nineteen places we got only mashed potatoes and radishes. A man with a vigorous and a great hit and we always carried the onion. At the end of the three weeks we proudly stepped on the scales.

When we started in to be a vegetarian we weighed 216 pounds dressed and after three weeks of vegetarianism we weighed only 232 and had lost most of our friends through the onion route. Never again!

EXPECT CITY TO PAY FOR RAISING GRADE

The city of Janesville is expected to defray the expense of raising the Northwestern belt line grade, which must be done in order to secure an approach to the new Racine street bridge from the west side. Information to this effect has been received by City Engineer C. V. Korsh through Alva L. Homans, agent of the Chicago and North-Western railway. The city has, as yet, taken no action in the matter, but a conference between its representatives and railway officials will be called in a short time. It is estimated that over six hundred car loads of gravel will be needed to raise the grade.

The Racine street bridge is rapidly nearing its completion. The third span is in place, and the fourth and last span has arrived and is on the ground. Some trouble is being experienced in securing labor and carpenters are specially in demand at present.

Then next step in the construction after the steel work is completed will be the laying of a concrete floor and brick pavement and cement walks. The floor will be from five and a half to seven and a half inches thick and the cement walks will be four inches thick. They will be placed outside the gutters and separated from the driveway. The contractors are hoping that hard, cold weather will not set in until the concrete work is completed.

Fills of considerable depth and size will have to be made to secure approaches to the bridge on each side. The city has been dumping waste on the sites of these approaches for several years which will simplify the problem somewhat, but little work and material will be required to make a possible approach on the east side of the river.

HAYES BROTHERS DO NOT KNOW OF SUIT SAID TO BE FILED

Have Not Been Informed of Alleged Suit Brought by Chicago Firm for $125,000 for Work on Irrigation Dam.

Members of the contracting firm of Hayes Brothers of this city have not been informed of the alleged damages suit which has been filed against them by A. P. Burke and Son, a Chicago contracting firm for $125,000 alleged to be due according to a recent statement in a Chicago paper.

Both members of the firm were confident that there was some sort of mistake regarding the matter and that the affair would be settled without difficulty. The Burke company was one of the firms allowed a sub-contract on the monster irrigation dam and construction work at Belle Fourche, which was recently completed by the Hayes Brothers. The firm's figures must be gone over by government engineers and expert accountants at Washington, which takes considerable time, thus causing a delay in the settlement with the sub-contracting companies. The Burke company, it is stated, had money due for the last months' work.

According to the statement in the Chicago paper the suit has been filed in the United States circuit court, and an attachment of $50,000 had been made against the National Surety company for that amount of money said to be in their possession belonging to the defendants.

Michael Hayes stated this morning that he saw no reason for the suit and was reasonably confident that it had not been brought. He anticipated no trouble whatever in arriving at a settlement should the Burke company be desirous of immediate funds in payment for their services.

WARRANT ISSUED FOR FORMER RESIDENT ON CHARGE OF BIGAMY

Collin W. Samuels, an Alleged Bigamist, According to His Wife's Father's Story.

According to a Chicago dispatch Collin W. Samuels, a former resident of Janesville and at one time, local manager of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, is wanted by the Chicago police for the alleged charge of bigamy. According to the dispatch the warrant was worn out by a Mr. Wallace who alleges that Samuels married his daughter, Maud Wallace, at St. Joseph, Mich., October 14th, 1910, having already been married to a Miss Prudence S. Smith of Dayton, Ohio, on July 6th, 1909. According to the complaint, Samuels and his first wife, Miss Smith, enjoyed but a two weeks' honeymoon when Mrs. Samuels returned to the home of her parents in Dayton, Ohio. Mr. Wallace can find no record of Samuels having married a divorcee from the Austin girl before marrying his daughter and in consequence charged him with bigamy in the complaint which he swore out in Chicago yesterday. Samuels is well known in Janesville and since leaving here has made frequent visits. The report of his latest escapade will be a surprise to his many friends here.

He is employed as a telegraph operator in Chicago at the present time. The dispatch did not state whether he had been apprehended or not or whether his second wife had left him.

Benefit in Adversity.
Adversity frequently develops beauty of the heart just as the night brings out the stars. The pilot could not steer his ship without the pressure of the waves upon the rudder; the bird could not fly but for the resistance of the air against its wings; thus we often seem retarded by what in truth helps us on. Trouble, to a good heart, is like fermentation to the juice of the grape. It works itself clear and leaves nothing but the pure wine.

Keep Milk Cold and Clean

Very close attention is required in order to keep milk pure and sweet. This applies to the dairyman, the distributor, the housekeeper, etc., alike until the milk is used in ultimate consumption. But no matter how careful you may be in your own home with your milk supply—if it has not received the proper attention before reaching you, all of your efforts will be of no avail. The point is know ALL about the milk you buy.

Our Pasteurized Milk is safe—every possible precaution is exercised in its distribution. It is "perfectly pasteurized"—automatically sealed and capped and distributed in a most sanitary manner.

If you are undecided in the selection of a milkman, why not be guided by about 90% of the families in the city and take our Pasteurized Milk. There are several thousand bottles sold daily—surely such an overwhelming preference for any one brand of milk must be good evidence that our milk is the best. There are many other "reasons why" which we will tell you later; until then why not try a daily supply for a week. One of our sanitary wagons will call on time every day.

CHURCH WEDDING IS HELD AT EDGERTON

Miss Meta Stricker and Ludwig Schachtschneider Married Saturday at Norwegian Lutheran Church.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Edgerton, Oct. 28.—Sunday afternoon the people of this city witnessed a big church wedding, the contracting parties being Miss Meta Stricker and Ludwig Schachtschneider, both of this city. The ceremony took place at the Norwegian Lutheran church at three o'clock and the ceremony, conducted by the Rev. J. C. Spillman, was witnessed by a large assembly of people.

After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stricker, on Railroad street, where a reception was tendered the newly wedded couple and the event duly celebrated, about one hundred and twenty-five guests being present, consisting of relatives, neighbors and friends. The couple were attended by Arthur Schachtschneider, brother of the groom, and Miss Elsie Stricker, sister of the bride. The bride was handsomely gowned in a cream silk robe dress with mesaline and beaded trimming and carried bride's roses.

Both bride and groom were born and reared in Edgerton and enjoy the acquaintance of a large circle of friends. The bride for many years has been a member of the German Young Ladies' society of which she was an influential member. The couple were the recipients of many costly gifts. Those present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. John Gossett and Mrs. Henry Piltner. Mrs. John Lehman, Watertown; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stricker, and Mr. and Mrs. William Schachtschneider of Janesville township. The couple will go to house-keeping in about a month.

Married Here Saturday.

Linnqvist performing the ceremony. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on the 7:28 train for Orfordville for a brief stay, after which they will return and take up their home on the Nasutt farm which is owned by Abel Nasutt, brother of the bride.

Buys Bowling Alley.

E. B. Hill of Albion township, having just sold his farm at that place, has bought the Milten bowling alley property in this city. The property consists of a two-story brick structure and besides the bowling alley outfit there is also a billiard and pool room and stabling barn in connection. The property was owned by Mrs. Mary Blanchard, who now resides in Boston. The price paid was $11,175 and possession will be given December 1, next. E. M. Laid made the deal.

Why is the soda cracker to-day such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

To-day there is a soda cracker which is the recognized staple — Uneeda Biscuit.

Uneeda Biscuit are the most nutritious food made from flour and should be eaten every day by every member of the family from the youngest to the oldest.

Vegetables and Apples

always go together in the Bitter Root Valley. Do not get the idea that because you have an Apple Orchard, you cannot raise vegetables. That is just what you can do; between the rows of growing trees there is ample room for all kinds of vegetables, and a ten-acre tract is as large as one man can handle to advantage in small vegetables. This will permit of your moving right on to your tract, and making a living out of vegetables while your fruit trees are coming into bearing size; then you can also raise chickens to good advantage and as you have the best of markets there is no kind of a chance of losing money while you are waiting for your fruit trees to grow. Investigate this proposition at once as it means a great deal of money for you.

Our Terms Are As Follows:

A ten-acre orchard tract planted to trees, and brought to maturity, will cost you only $5,000.00 if you buy now.

If you prefer, we will accept $2,000.00 cash and the balance with 6% interest in four annual installments.

If you are not in a position to pay as much as $2,000.00 now, write for our accumulation plan permitting an initial payment as low as $500.00.

THE (42) BEST BARGAINS FROM OUR (42) BUSIEST STORES

Read Why

We are publishing this extraordinary page of specials

This paper has been studying for some time past the relative importance, interest and appeal the "advertising" of a modern paper should bear to the other "news" set forth in its columns.

(The result is staggering to the reporter and editorial pride.)

It has forcibly come to us that, what interests the world most today and has most interested them since the world began, is summed up in—

WHAT TO EAT—WHAT TO WEAR—WHAT TO HAVE IN THE HOME—HOW TO BEST SPEND MONEY TO PROMOTE THE MOST PLEASURE AND HAPPINESS AND COMFORT.

Compared with these great points which vitally concern humanity, the lesser happenings of life are but incidents.

And the person best qualified to interest the people of this city in these matters of most moment are by all means the merchants—the men who are in touch with the world's markets—who know what is being done in the new discoveries and originations of merchandise and food stuffs, to raise standards of living or change modes and styles.

Do the people of this city really appreciate this great truth? Do the merchants appreciate it themselves, is a question this paper has been asking; itself, and also the question—

HOW CAN THIS PAPER HELP bring a closer confidence and sense of mutual understanding and benefit between advertiser and the public?

In answer to this question THIS PAPER HAS SET ASIDE THIS SPACE for one day each week and has asked the merchants of this city to contribute

(What in their opinion will be their (one) most appealing bargain.)

Moreover, we mean to devote this space one day each week to announcing these "best" bargains. We also mean to protect our merchants and our readers in the sincerity of all offerings, and so we will appoint a competent shopping committee to each week inspect all "best" bargain offerings and decide which is the ONE BEST BARGAIN OF ALL the decision of the committee to be published in the ad of the week following the insertion of the "best bargains."

42 Merchants Have Responded— some with price cuts, some with "new arrivals," some with style novelties, some with unique originations, some with offerings possessing more than ordinary appeal to eye, palate, or ear.

This Ad is Bound to Contain many things to interest and appeal to every reader of this paper—many needed items at a big saving, many wanted things, many now suggestions; and so, even if you haven't a need, desire or wish unfulfilled at the present time, the reading of this ad and the succeeding ads will be well worth your while in developing your discernment, just for the interest and satisfaction of determining in advance in your own mind the "bargain" which the committee will select as "best," your faculty for picking out real bargains when you see them and also because these announcements from every point of view are bound to make

The most interesting reading of any page in today's paper

SIMPSON'S

With their offer of $12.50 wool dresses for $7.50 were awarded first place in the Gazette's Best Bargain page last week. The committee making the award consisted of three ladies from the I. O. G. T. This excellent bargain was justly given the first place among the other good ones.

Was this the bargain you decided was best last week?

Did you read and respond to that bargain page—you certainly missed the most interesting reading in the paper if you happened to overlook it—But here is another—just as brimful of interest to you—read every special—perhaps the very item you need most is set forth here the most extraordinary offering on the page.

The committee this week will be three ladies from the Ladies' Aid Society of the United Brethren Church

Dainty Christmas Gifts That Can Be Made at Home.

THE Christmas gift that is the work of the giver always seems to carry in the truest fashion the Christmas spirit. The one who receives it seems to feel the kindly thought and love that have gone into each stitch, each stroke of the brush or pen. The one who can make the Christmas gifts she sends is indeed fortunate, for her remembrance are sure of a specially warm welcome. And many dainty articles can be made for gifts, which even the novices in needlework need not hesitate to attempt, so carefully is every part of the work prepared, and so thoroughly is every step explained.

Very smart are the handbags that come already made up and stamped and requiring but a little embroidery to finish them. This embroidery, if done in oriental designs and colorings, is very rich and effective, and when completed, such a bag is a useful and handsome gift.

Very attractive, too, are the telephone pads, the collar boxes and shirt holders, that can be made quite easily and at little expense. The designs on these this year are mostly in striking conventional oriental patterns. Embroidered white linen pillowcases covers are always a dainty and acceptable gift. The back and front are separate pieces, and are faced together with ribbon, which gives a rich dressy effect, and yet makes laundering easy. Almost every woman would welcome such a gift, for covers for the pillowcase for the bureau are always needing replacing.

Another pretty gift is towels for the guest room, embroidered in the effective and popular cross stitch. These towels are lovely; and rare indeed would be the woman who wouldn't rejoice at such a Christmas remembrance. A little dainty flower garland worked across the ends in cross stitch is exquisite.

Vying in popularity with the cross stitch this season is the French knot, not just the old time French knot; but a sort of new cable French knot, if one may so describe it. All sorts of pretty things are worked in this stitch, and it gives a rich heavy raised effect that is indescribably lovely.

Very dainty are little aprons made of white voile, edged with lace, and embroidered. The lace in Cluny effect is best with the voile; and if placed entirely around the apron, ribbon can be run through it at the waist for the belt.

The woman fond of entertaining would appreciate a set of dainty candle-shades, hand-embroidered. The new rose work is very pretty for these, as the tiny roses stand out as if almost real. For a girl's boudoir, a pretty candleshade, too, would be a dainty gift.

Exquisite bureau scarfs and even bedspreads, if one wishes to send so elaborate a gift, can be made of little squares of linen embroidered in punch work, and held together with lace or fancy stitches. The work is exquisite, and such a scarf or spread would be a treasure.

Many of these gifts can be made quite inexpensively, yet any one of them is a useful, pretty and sure to be welcomed gift.

Barbara Boyd.

Thought for Today

By MRS. ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE.

HEALTHFUL HOUSEHOLD.
D. R. LINCOLN STEFFENS, writing of the University of Wisconsin, says it offers to teach anybody, anything, anywhere. In doing this, it seems to me, to be rendering its highest service. To carry the results of scientific investigation directly to the people is true democracy in education. For many years the departments of agriculture of our various state universities, through short courses, through bulletins, through the press, have been teaching farmers the most advanced, scientific farm management. More recently in some states the housekeepers have been included in the extension plan. How important that this should be carried further and that women should be given the results of scientific investigation applicable to the healthful and progressive administration of the home.

Large sums are expended to demonstrate the danger of tuberculosis in cattle. We know that tuberculosis in human beings is an indoor disease and its cure and prevention dependent on good air and wholesome food. With this disease causing more deaths than any other, should not housekeepers first of all be instructed in methods of combating it? Are not well sunned and ventilated houses where we sleep and eat and where women and children spend so large a part of their time, as vital subjects as horse stables and cow barns? And how about balanced rations? We surely ought to know as much about food in relation to the growth of children as to the growth of calves and pigs.

Many excellent housekeepers think they do not need instruction from any source to teach them healthful household management. But though we bake and scrub and are slaves to our housekeeping, unless we sun and ventilate and cook according to the standards imposed by our new knowledge of health and cause of disease, we are not meeting our first obligation to home and society.

FOR LINGERIE PILLOWS.

This is a dainty design to embroider on one of the sheer pillow cases to be used on a small pillow. The initials may be introduced in the center of the heart. The flowers, leaves and ribbon are worked solid, with the dots as eyelets and the stems in the outline stitch. Mercerized cotton No. 25 should be used.

Try it for a Day.
Do you begin the day saying thus? "This day I will live as becomes a man. I will be filled with good cheer and courage. I will do what is right; I will work for the highest; I will put soul into every handiwork, every smile, every expression—into all my work. I will live to satisfy my other self." You think it is easy. Try it for a day.—Elbert Hubbard.

Incubating Religion.
The falling off in attendance in the various churches and the lack of interest on the part of young people in religious matters has had the attention of the authorities of Bavaria, where the supreme court has decided that parents must provide religious instruction for their children and that the instruction must be in keeping with the faith of the parents.

The Kitchen Cabinet

THE world that we're living in is mighty hard to beat; You get a thorn with every rose But ain't the roses sweet?

LITTLE LEAKS.

The old proverb that tells us that "the little leak is what sinks the great ship" is so true of the little leaks in the household which are so easily overlooked, yet are the cause of many bankrupt homes.

These may seem like small things to mention, but "a straw shows which way the wind blows."

Do you notice the tea and coffee cups at the end of the meal? Is there a teaspoonful of undissolved sugar in some of the cups? The children may be taught now to guard against this extravagant habit, but it is hard to break old and long-established ones.

Are those at your table careless about taking on the plate more than they care to eat, leaving it to be wanted?

When the expense of the table exceeds half of the income (the amount a fair apportionment), it proves that it is due to any or all of the following things:

Buying food out of season.

Buying perishable foodstuffs in quantities not immediately available.

Buying food with little nutriment.

Choice of high-priced meat, high-priced because limited in supply, not because it is of greater food value.

Many times the most medicinal part of the vegetable is left in the water and thrown away.

There is as much genius needed to practice the little economies in the home as it takes to write poetry, and we can live without poetry but not without cooks.

Women, as a rule, know more about the wearing qualities of clothing than about sustaining qualities of foods.

A quart of oysters equals a quart of milk in nutritive power.

One of the greatest faults of housekeepers is lack of forehandness.

Getting ready ahead of time takes thought.

Curious Bits of History

Worse Than a Fool.

"You don't seem to learn the game very fast, Mr. Sprackles; what do you find so attractive about golf?"

"You, Miss Fanny."

"Well, that's a good drive, Mr. Sprackles, but it's in the wrong direction."

Articles Written for This Contest Being Received

Is Open to Every Reader of the Woman's Page—Must All Be in by November 15th.

Several well written articles on the present contest, "How best to prepare for winter from the housewife's point of view," have already been received by the Feature Editor. This contest is open to every woman reader of The Gazette and should bring forth numerous articles that will be of great benefit to the readers of this page.

The Feature Editor wishes to call attention to the fact that the articles must be written on one side of the paper only, be limited to five hundred words and in the hands of the Feature Editor by November 15th.

These articles may be theoretical, but it is preferable that they be based upon actual facts. The methods employed in gathering the supplies, the care in preserving them and what they are composed of are matters that can be handled.

So many inquiries have come to the Feature Editor as to conditions of the contest that it is only necessary to again state that the conditions are most simple and the contest open to all readers, no matter where they live. The following is the list of prizes:

First Prize.—Set of Dishes.

Second Prize.—Half Dozen Silver Tea Spoons.

Third Prize.—Dance Courtesy Cook Book.

Fourth Prize.—Family Scales.

Fifth Prize.—Vacuum Bottle.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Sweet Cakes Made Without Eggs.—Recipes for the Economical.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

Eyes are beginning to cost more now to cause the housewife to think twice while selecting her recipes. She is cutting angel and sponge cake and all encasings out of her every day cookery and for many weeks now will look with favor on eggless recipes. Soft, delicate simple desserts can be prepared without eggs by using fruit, gelatine, cream and shortening to give any variety on that score. But good cake demands eggs although yeast and baking powder can be substituted to a limited extent. Directions for making a few sweet cakes are given below, some of them having been used by several generations of cooks.

An old recipe for ginger snaps reads: Heat two cups of molasses until it rises in the sauce pan, turn into a mixing bowl and when nearly cold add one-half cup each of butter and lard and two cups of flour sifted twice, with one-half teaspoon of salt; two teaspoons of soda and two tablespoons of ginger all measured level. Now mix in flour until a stiff dough is made; roll out thin, cut in rounds and bake carefully to prevent scorching. Store in a warm dry place in order to keep them crisp and brittle. It is better to do in a paper bag and hang up than to put into a covered jar or cake box.

A recipe for raised doughnuts, credited to Miss Beecher, one of the first writers on cookery in this country, shows none of its value by age. Scald two cups of milk and when lukewarm add one cup of yeast, for which substitute one-half a compressed yeast cake dissolved in one-half a cup of lukewarm water, one cup of sugar and enough sifted bread flour to make a stiff batter. Cover the bowl and let rise over night. In the morning add one-third cup of butter and one-half level teaspoon of soda, dissolved in one tablespoon of milk, one-half nutmeg grated and enough flour to rise. When very light, turn out onto a board without kneading and roll three-quarters of an inch thick. Cut in strips three-quarters of an inch thick, let rise on the board until light and keep covered with a very thin cloth. Turn carefully with a butter knife so that both sides may be light and not crusted over. Fry in deep fat, turning to brown well and when cool, dust with powdered sugar.

When sour cream is available use it to make a good raisin cake. Mix one cup of brown sugar, one-half cup of molasses, one cup of thick sour cream, one level tablespoon each of cinnamon and allspice, one level teaspoon of soda, dissolved in one tablespoon of hot water and three and one-half cups of sifted flour. When all are thoroughly mixed stir in quickly one pound of raisins, seeded, chopped coarsely and rolled lightly in flour. Bake for an hour in a slow oven.

A maple cake is somewhat of a change. Put two cups of sifted pastry flour into a sifter with three level teaspoons of baking powder and a half spoon of salt. Sift twice, rub in one-quarter cup of softened butter and mix with three-quarters cup or more of milk as needed to make a dough that can be handled. Stir in one-half cup of grated or chopped maple sugar and roll half an inch thick. Brush over with milk, bake and serve warm.

A simple raised tea cake is made with one pint of bread dough measured after it is kneaded. Add a rounding tablespoon each of sugar and butter, three-quarters of a cup of currants and one-half level teaspoon of cinnamon. After working in well, put into a greased baking pan, let rise light and bake. Serve warm with butter.

An excellent raisin cake to serve warm is made in a round tin. Sift two cups of flour with four level teaspoons of baking powder, a salt spoon of salt and three level tablespoons of sugar. Mix with one-half cup of milk, three tablespoons of melted butter and add one-third cup of seeded raisins cut in halves. Have the oven hot and bake quickly, then draw from the oven and rub the top with sugar and milk mixed to a cream. Set back in the oven for one minute.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE Captain had settled down to live in old Chester; his son, Cyrus, lived with him and his languid daughter-in-law—a young lady of dominant feebleness, who ruled the two men with that most powerful domestic rod—foolish weakness. This combination in a woman will cause a mountain in masculine mountains to fly from its case; while kindness, justice and good sense leave it upon unshaken foundations of selfishness. Only when the secrets of all hearts shall be revealed, will it be understood why a man loves a fool, but why he obeys her is obvious enough.

There is a certain kind of selfishness, which, although it is one of the commonest and most troublesome in the world, seems to me to be seldom recognized as such,—and that is the selfishness of fear.

People who hamper and hinder and fret and tie down those whom they pretend most to love by fear, usually think they are showing love and tenderness and beautiful solicitude.

As a matter of fact, they are usually giving an evidence of almost pure selfishness.

When the fear tyrant objects to his loved ones doing this or that, because there might be some vague possibility of risk connected with the pleasure, he thinks his objects because he loves them so very much. But, nine times out of ten, the real rock-bottom foundation for the objections is the fact that he knows he will worry and be unhappy.

I know a man who was badly thrown from a horse in his youth, by the breaking of a saddle girth, and had a deep-seated fear of horses. And yet this man bought his little boy a pony.

"That gift," he told me, "cost me more self-sacrifice than anything I ever gave him. I made myself buy the pony, because I believed that the exercise would do him good physically and give him pleasure and develop courage and self-reliance in him. But it was weeks before I could go out to ride without suffering agonies of anxiety. Again and again I longed to take it from him, but I would not let myself, because I believed I ought not to allow my fear to deprive him of pleasure and benefit."

What an extremely true example that is.

How many people, so far from being capable of such heights, shamelessly descend to the depths of hindering those they love of pleasure and profit, by saying frankly and openly, "If you do that I know I shall worry."

"Every night," chronicles Mrs. Deland, "the captain screwed down all the windows on the lower floor; in the morning Cyrus pulled the screws out. Cyrus had a pretty taste in horses, but Ousale (the young lady of dominant foolishness) cried so when he once bought a trotter, that he had long ago resigned himself to a friendly beast of twenty-seven years, who could not go much out of a walk, because he has stringhalt in both hind legs."

What one of us does not, to some extent, however small, have his share of the selfishness of fear?

The instinct to preserve our own peace of mind at the expense of other people's comfort and pleasure, seems to be a natural and almost universal one. Unfortunately, it is usually regarded as a virtue, or at the worst a weakness.

If we can only come to recognize it as an actual failing, a real vice and happiness destroyer, surely we shall have gone part ways toward curing ourselves of it.

SUGGESTIONS FOR FALL COAT SUIT.

Despite the hot, humid days of late summer, the shops are all showing fall suits and some few have even dared to put forth fur and Tux coats. The new suits are charming, as our sketch above verifies in this instance, where the material is a light-weight chiffon broadcloth in a perfect shade of dark blue. The cut of both coat and skirt is admirable and the braiding in black soutache is effective and good-looking. Carried with this suit is a muff of seal-skin bordered with wide bands of chinchilla.

BISHOP MATHEWS IN STRONG SERMON AS CONVENTION CLOSES

POWERFUL ADDRESS AT UNITED BRETHREN CONVENTION SUNDAY MORNING.

CHRIST AND RELIGION

Many of Fundamental Problems Treated in Exhaustive and Comprehensive Manner.

Bishop George M. Mathews of Chicago, who has been present throughout the entire week at all the sessions of the United Brethren convention and through whose power and personality much has been accomplished, gave a very powerful address at the closing session yesterday morning.

The text of his sermon was found in the 14th chapter of Matthew, 16th verse: "Whom do ye say that I am?" The bishop recalled these words of Christ as being a challenge to all the people of all times and carried the audience back to the time of His being on earth and spoke of many phases of the challenge up to the present time.

He said that "the bible, in its rich, old value, is a present reality. It is not only a record of the past, but also the living word for the present. Hence the words of the text, come not from lips that have been hushed through the centuries, but from the Great Master, Himself, speaking to them over again to us, at the present time."

"We must not forget that Jesus Christ is a person. He is independent of time and space. He is thought and taught for all ages. He knows the evolution of His kingdom from beginning to end. Epochs and crises are but fingermarks in the growth of the church. Centuries are but boundary lines beyond which Jesus reigns in a limitless realm. All church history is but the record of movements, back of which and above which, the Christ dwells in infinite wisdom and power."

Bishop Mathews also reasoned that Christ anticipated for the religious problems and issues that confront the church from time to time, in its progressive development, and that He knew that human nature is essentially the same in all ages, and that history would ever repeat itself.

The bishop stated that the religious problem of today could be expressed in three words, "What is Christianity?" He also said we may as well concede the fact that the present situation of religious thought and attitude to Christ, brings much confusion, even as much as when Christ was on earth. And this confusion, as then, grows out of the variant voices that express popular sentiment. Because of this divergence of popular opinion many thinking men insist that there is something wrong somewhere. They put it in this significant form: "How can Christianity have so many Christianities when there is but one Christ?" This divergence of belief, has caused much doubt and the peculiar phase of unbelief today, is that it has assumed the form of agnosticism.

Infidel literature is largely held aside. Men do not flatly deny religion; they simply declare that they do not know which is true or false, and demand that in regard to the great eternal verities, something must be said and said.

PERSONALITY OF CHRIST.

Another thought that the bishop brought out exceptionally well was the fact that the fundamental difficulty today in religious thought was solved by Christ when he declared that primarily Christianity was found in His own personality. "The true basis of Christianity is not in theology or doctrine about Christ, but in the fact of Christ Himself; the fact of Him in His dual aspect, both in human history and human experience."

"Jesus Christ is phenomenal in His towering personality. His aloneness is the surprise of history. Matthew, the highest point of the Jungfrau in Switzerland, has never been approached by human hand. Eternal and snow-crowned, it towers above all others and hides its face in the clouds; so Jesus, in His moral and intellectual character, is unapproached and unapproachable. He is the perfect head of humanity in everything. He is also the perfect head of the Church. He towers above popes, archbishops, theologians and all religious leaders, in the absolute truth and purity of His moral purity. His unapproachability has silenced all critics and scoffers."

Many different illustrations of the personality of Christ were dealt with by the bishop and in giving illustrations regarding the aggressiveness of Him, he said: "He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem. He set under the stupendous task of the world's redemption. He did it, with boundless courage and enthusiasm. He pressed on to the sublime goal of His mission. He met opposition all along the way. He knew no compromise, no retreat and his march was always on the advance. He attacked evil and wrong-doing. He laid the axe at the root of the tree of evil, and hewed it to the ground. Every step he took meant war. War with evil, greed, passion, savagery and selfishness. And that was not for a day, but forever. It included long campaigns, hard battles and long suffering, and final death on the cross."

Reverend Mathews also showed what a sacrificial leader He was. Stating that self-centered men couldn't command followers. "Cold-hearted persons do not grip souls. Men will not shout for an egoist or a selfish person."

Secret of Leadership. He said that the secret of leadership was in self-sacrifice for others. We read of such leaders as Howard, Nightingale, Burton, Frances E. Willard, and know the secret. He says, "I know the secret of the greatest human leader in the world. Men cross mountains, continents and seas, to visit the grave of a sainted mother, and pour out their hearts in grateful remembrance. Why? Because, there lies beneath that sacred mound the dearest of all friends, one who poured out her pure, precious life for her highest good. She is in the skies today, but she still inspires us to noble deeds and draws us to the Christ who loved and the home to which she is gone." He gave as an illustration of self-sacrifice, the time that United States Senator Lea of Tennessee, gave his life blood to save his wife from the grave, by transfusion.

He also discoursed upon the optimism of Christ, stating "He comes to us with the message of hope and cheer. Possibilities get no audience. Gloom commands no premium."

In speaking of the wars that had devastated so many nations for centuries the speaker said, "In the Peace room in Geneva, Switzerland, I saw the 'Flow of Peace' and 'Pruning Hook,' made out of swords carried in the War of the Rebellion, by a general in Indiana, one in Iowa, and one in Pennsylvania. They were donated to that country as memorials of peace. Even in that room one could feel the spirit of the Prince of Peace that is now dominating the thought of the civilized world. Three nations have signed a covenant of peace and the time is hastening when the War God will have passed away; when the final disarmament of the nations shall come under the rule of the law of love, when the best manhood of the nations shall be no longer sacrificed as a means of adjusting national differences; when swords shall be beaten into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks, and men shall learn war no more; when the Prince of Peace shall reign from the rivers to the ends of the earth."

In closing his interesting sermon the bishop said, "Preach Him in all His fulness and richness and power. Preach Him with a tongue of fire, with a heart of love, with a holy joy. Preach Him to your dying hour and then, no up into His presence, to be like Him, and to behold Him in all the beatitude of His glory."

"The bishop had contracted a severe cold and was unable to put the force and emphasis into his lecture that he desired to, but the sermon was one that will remain long in the hearts of all who heard him and one that will reap a bountiful harvest of good things."

Bishop George Mathews lives in the city of Chicago and has dealt with the church in all its aspects and is a man that thoroughly understands the needs of the present day church.

MINISTERS ORDAINED.

Before this excellent sermon was delivered, the bishop ordained two new ministers. The two ordained men are brothers and are well known among the citizens of Janesville and vicinity. They are L. E. Warren, who has had charge of the Lima Ridge church the past year, and P. E. Warren, who has been in charge of the parish at Lima Center. Both young ministers are sincere workers and will undoubtedly find great success along their chosen line of work. Both of them will go to Colorado to preach and are making this place their residence on account of throat affliction that has been troubling them for some time. They hope to overcome their throat trouble in this climate and it is the hope of their many friends that the Colorado climate will prove all they desire it to.

To defray the expenses of the conference a collection was taken at the morning service Sunday and the audience responded liberally, and after counting the money subscribed, it was found that four hundred and forty-nine dollars had been raised, exclusive of the silver collection. The bishop expressed great joy in the way that the members and friends responded and spoke a few words, touching upon liberality.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams BY WALT NASON

When I'm inclined to weep and wall because my luck seems kind o' stale I always think of William Wax, who lives down by the railway track. He lost both legs some years ago, by being frozen in the snow, but no one ever heard of him whine or curse his for- LUCK—time or realm. With cheery smiles he went his way, upon his crutches, day by day. And later, when he lost both arms, his brave heart scorned all coward alarms he bore him from the sawmill door, all stained and splattered with his gore, and still he cried: "J-d-ding-a-ding! I cannot dance, but I can sing!" He kept on singing in his shack, and then one day he broke his back. We put him in a plaster cast, and thought he'd surely quit at last, but still he cried, in tones of joy: "I am your little sunshine boy!" And later on this human wreck fell from his house and broke his neck; and then a gun blew off his head, and still he wore a smile and said: "Such trifles do not worry me, and I am always full of glee!" So when grim war my bosom racks, I always think of William Wax, to whom no ill could sorrow bring, and then I dance and whoop and sing.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

By H. L. HANN.

COURTESY.

The cheapest thing in this world, next to a debate in the House of Representatives, is courtesy. Yet it is becoming harder to find than the baby's nightie in a dark closet. We saw a little old lady try to buy a through ticket to the coast the other day from a fresh village agent who drew $15 a month and an occasional sober breath, and his insolence made every road man in the station yearn to learn up against him with a right uppercut. At the time he had snarped and snarled his way through the coupons the old lady was all of a tremble, and that road had made several robust enemies for life. A silky saleswoman, who radiates both temper and baking powder perfume, will drive away more trade than the advertising man can jolly back in a month. The dyspeptic telephone girl, with an impediment in her speech caused by a six-ounce wind of noisy chewing gum, has caused more members of the church in good standing to hit a neat section out of a hard rubber receiver than having to pay for the book's toll messages. The man who knows how to treat the public with the courtesy due a dry horse doesn't have to burden the want column with his age, color and previous condition of servitude.

JANESVILLE COUPLE STEAL MARCH ON THEIR FRIENDS

Joseph Prests of the Methodist church of that place. The wedding was a complete surprise to their friends, who had been led to believe that they were merely away on a visit. The bride is a young lady with a large acquaintance here and many admiring friends. The groom is a graduate of the Janesville high school and up to the present time has been attending the state university. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer will make their home at No. 11 South Main street.

Our Agencies Dot the Earth

Schlitz was brewed first in a hut over sixty years ago. Now our output exceeds a million barrels a year. Our agencies dot the earth.

More and more people every year are demanding Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles.

In our brewery we spend more on purity—in time—in skill—in money—than on any other cost in our brewing.

We scald every tub, keg and barrel—every pipe and pump—every time we use it. We wash every bottle four times by machinery. Even the air, in which the beer is cooled, is filtered.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

FORTY YEARS AGO.
The Janesville Gazette, Oct. 30, 1871.
We are informed that the detective candidate for member of the Assembly, said, when making his application for a secret appointment to act as spy on the democratic party south, that he didn't care anything about Doolittle and characterized him by the use of terms which were neither elegant or polite. That is, if he could get pay from the government, he was willing to turn his back on Doolittle and the democracy at home, as well as to act as a spy on his political friends on the other side of the Mason and Dixon line.
The Central Wisconsin says that the first snow of the season fell on the night of the 14th of October.
The Milwaukee Sentinel has been enlarged by the addition of another column. The managers have found this necessary in order to accommodate increasing business.
